Bridge Chapel, Sowter Road, 3.00 pm: A Service of Reflection and Act of Commemoration

From the Bridge Chapel commemoration, the observance moves to the trees dedicated to Anne Frank and Olga Nahlak, located on Cathedral Green. In a brief ceremony, dignitaries, including the Mayor of Derby will place small stones at the foot of each tree. All who wish to do so may take part and stones will be provided at the trees.

Note 1: In Judaism, stone-setting is a custom, to let the deceased soul know that their grave has been visited and that they are still in the minds of those who remain.

Note 2: Olga Nahlak was a Ukrainian gentile who saved a Jewish family by hiding them in a bunker under her floorboards, even faking a pregnancy so that when one Jewish mother gave birth, no-one was surprised to see Olga with a baby and its crying aroused no suspicion. After Olga's husband disappeared, presumed murdered, she came to England where she lived and died in Derby and was designated Righteous Among the Nations. Full details of her life will be available on the day at the Bridge Chapel (and are available online – web search Olga Nahlak). Anne Frank's story is well known.

Showing of 'Anne Frank: Parallel Stories'

Narrated by Helen Mirren telling the story of Anne Frank's life through the pages of her world-famous diary.

This story has made the tragedy of the Holocaust known to readers all over the world and this emotive telling is entwined with the stories of five Holocaust survivors (Arianna Szorenyi, Sarah Lichsztejn-Montard, Helga Wiess and sisters Andra and Tatiana Bucci) who shared Anne's same fate of deportation, suffering and were denied their childhood and adolescence, but were fortunately able to go on and live the life that Anne was denied.

An evocative documentary, which brings Anne's tragic, yet incredible, story to life and explores why this story has become such an historic journal that holds such great relevance today.

'Yiddish Revolutionaries' – a forgotten history of the Jewish left, through song, Klezmer and word. Performed by Yoyvl. (Phil Tomlinson, Adrian Dobson, Hannah Monteiro, Sue Cooper and Judy Sherwood)

"Yiddish Revolutionaries" arose from the wish to contradict the usual narrow stereotypes about Jewish people. The songs take us from poverty to hope and resistance, telling us a story of the growth of the Jewish Left. These are supported by inspirational Klezmer music, with readings and a slide show, together creating an engaging, emotional and uplifting experience. It is intended that people will hear something of the commonality of experiences across place, time, culture and country.

There will be translations for all the songs.

Tickets are £6, available from Eventbrite – follow this link
